Please see response from the Corps. It sounds like this covers the matter.

Subject RE: Construction Activities at Caddell Dry Dock

Dave:

There was a nationwide confirmation issued on August 14, 2006, for the installation of 297 linear feet of new bulkhead and appurtenant backfill at the Caddell facility on the Kill Van Kull. I believe the work also involved the removal of a deteriorated 246' long pier, and the bulkhead primarily involved replacing most of the shoreline adjacent to where the pier had been on the west side of the property. I don't know for certain that the current work is that which was authorized, but it probably is.

We currently have a PN out for a major mod of Caddell's dredging permit, in order to authorize the disposal of the dredged material at the NBCDF, so Caddell has a rather high profile right this minute.

Thanks.

Chris,

Does the Corps have any permitted activities going on at Caddell Dry Dock on Staten Island?

Please see report below.

Dave

Construction Activities at Caddell Dry Dock

Hi David,

Murray Lantner and I conducted a compliance evaluation inspection yesterday (8/18/09) for a site in Staten Island located directly on the Kill Van Kull named Caddell Dry Dock. They have a SPDES permit NY0033090. We witnessed several construction activities occurring on the site including bulk head repair (removing old/damaged wooden boards and replacing them with new ones). The first attached photo shows boards being removed and the second photo shows the pile where they are placing/storing the removed boards.

At another location at the site we found excavated soil in a pile on site as seen in the third attached photo.

We asked Brian Donato (Safety Compliance Officer) and Richard LaVerie (Compliance Officer/purchasing manager) if they had permits for this work and they said they didn't know and are not sure if they needed one. What do you think? If there is anything else you would like to know about this site feel free to contact myself or Murray.

Thanks!

Kim:

Caddell Dry Dock facility is a SPDES Individual Permitted facility handled by Vichit Aramsombatdee in our Unit (DEC Region 2 Division of Water). So I'm forwarding your e-mail to him.

Hi Imadul Islam and Sebastian Zacharias,

I inspected the Caddell Dry Dock (NY0033090) facility back in August 2009 for compliance with their SPDES permit. I have a copy of the permit with the cover letter dated 4/22/2009. It lists that this permit was modified on 06/01/2009 and was effective on 2/01/2006. Do you have a copy of the original permit issued on 2/01/2006 so I can compare that
